Powder Mill District Eagle Scout Projects Contact Andy Sensing at (302) 377-6253 on Eagle Projects in the Powder Mill District. Eagle Scout Service Project (ESSP) is Eagle Requirement Scout 5: While Scout life, plan, develop and give leadership to others in a service project that is beneficial to any religious institution, any school, or community. (The project should benefit an organization not a Boy Scout.) The project proposal must be approved by the effort-based organization, the head of your unit and the unit committee, as well as the council or district before starting work. You must use the Eagle Scout Project Workbook Service, No. 512-927, in connection with this requirement. The purpose of the project in addition to providing services and fulfilling part of the Scout Oath to help other people at all times, one of the main goals of the Eagle Scout Service project is to demonstrate or hone, or learn and develop, leadership skills. There are important lessons in project management and responsibility for significant achievements. The only official working book can be used by Eagle Scout candidates must use the official Eagle Scout Service Project Workbook, No. 512-927, as produced by the Boy Scouts of America. The official pdf can be found in www.scouting.org. Although it is acceptable to copying and distributing a book, it must maintain the same appearance with nothing changed, added or removed. Scout, parents or guardians, and leaders should read eagle Scout Service Project Workbook carefully for information on draft selection, restrictions, instructions on how to keep a work book, fundraising, In addition to reading the entire work book, the candidate and his parent or guardian should consult the Promotion Guide, No. 33088, starting with Section 9.0.2.0, Eagle Scouting Project. The completed Eagle Scout Service Project Proposal and the fundraising application (if necessary), signed by a candidate, division manager, division committee, and beneficiary, can be submitted for county approval by contacting the registrar at a scout shop in Wilmington. The proposal will be sent to the Eagle Area Powder Factory vice-chairman for review and approval. Eagle's vice chairman will directly contact the scout with any questions or concerns. The scout will be notified after approval and the signed offer will be returned to the Scout store where it can be picked up. Below are 12 steps from life to eagle service project: 2. Using Eagle Scout Service Project Workbook, a candidate must choose his eagle service project and have a project concept approved by his unit manager, his unit committee and the project benefactor, and reviewed and approved by the council or district development committee. At the same time, the requirement is necessary Eagle Scout Service, No. 18-927D. 3. It is essential that all the requirements for the Eagle Ofle rank, with the exception of the review board will be completed before the candidate's 18th birthday. When all requirements except the Eagle Review Board, including the Service Project and Scoutmaster Conference, have been completed, the Eagle Scout Rank Application must be filled out and sent to the board's service center promptly. 5. Eagle Scout Project Project Workbook, duly filled, must be submitted with an application. The revised book of the Eagle Scout Service Workbook, No. 512-927, was published electronically on the Advance Resources www.scouting.org/advancement webpage. At the same time, the previous work book was removed and can no longer be accessed. The revised work book is fundamentally no different from its predecessor. It has been reorganized, some functionality has been improved, several clarifications have been made and a new document has been added for the beneficiaries of the projects. Key changes include: All general information, including a Message to Scouts and Parents or Guardians and Excerpts and A summary of the promotion guide, is now in front of the book. The Contact Information page is included in the offer. Please note that the instructions at the top of the page indicate that only the information that is required should be included. Functionality has been added that allows you to get certain information from the front pages and contact pages to automatically fill fields elsewhere. Some tables have been added and functionality improved to allow the relevant fields to expand to accept additional text. A project description and impact section has been added to the project report. Navigating the Eagle Scout Service Project, Information for project beneficiaries was added to the back of the workbook. The Eagle Scout candidate must provide this part to the beneficiary of the project and use it for discussion. Please note that there is currently a check box on the beneficiary's suggestion to indicate that a copy of the document has been received. Scouts who have already downloaded and started working with the previous version of the work book should be able to continue using it, regardless of whether their proposal has been approved. A scout whose proposal has already been approved using the original work book can use sections of the revised workbook Final Plan, the Fundraising App and sections of the Project Report. Scouts who have not yet started work on their proposal must now use a may 2014 version of the workbook. The council or district improvement committees should use common sense and judgment, however, if the scouts submit former versions of the book. There is not much point in having scouts copy everything from one version of the book to another. Another. eagle scout service project workbook no. 512-927 pdf
