Finding a way to make your Internet browsing experience a little more fun? Whether you're just surfing the web or you're trying to get the job done, Chrome extensions are a great way to add a bit of fun and functionality to your browser. There are many useful Chrome extensions that can make your life easier and make your day more productive. But today, let's focus on Chrome extensions that will add a dose of laughter to your day. 1. Celeb Replacer Source: Chrome.google.com there are two scenarios in which you have to download Celeb Replacer. First? You have access to a friend's computer and is looking for a genius prank. And the other one? You are looking for a way to make endless headlines about celebrities you don't care about much funnier. Either way, this Chrome extension will replace celebrity names with other celebrities. 2. Downworthy Source: Chrome.google.com If you're tired of the endless deluge of clickbait headlines from BuzzFeed, Upworthy, and the many sites that imitate them, why not solve the problem? Downworthy, arguably one of our favorites in Chrome history extensions, replaces hyperbolic headlines with more realistic versions. This is achieved by replacing the key phrases that are characteristic of clickbait titles with tamer wording. For example, literally becoming figurative, blowing up your mind becomes can perhaps gently entertain you for a moment, and you won't believe it becomes in all likelihood you'll believe it. The amazing transformation that will follow will change your life! 3. Focusbook Source: Chrome.google.com not all the fun Chrome extensions are the ones you can only enjoy when you're not working. Take Focusbook as an example. This extension will help you stay focused even if you need to open Facebook to check or post something. When you open Facebook with a Focusbook installed extension, you will need to indicate why you are on Facebook. (Are you posting something? or perhaps finding a link?) The extension will periodically remind you of the goal until you close Facebook. If you need to stay on the task, you might as well make it fun. 4. Giphy Tabs Source: Chrome.google.com you're a big GIF fan? (Let's face it: You already know what you are.) Then Giphy Tabs should be first on the list of Chrome extensions to download. This extension puts a new GIF on the screen every time you open the tab. It's impossible to predict what you're going to get. Giphy Tabs is a great way to lighten the mood when you're working on a project, or find something funny to share with your friends when you hang out. Of course, there are many other Chrome extensions that do more complex tricks to make the internet more fun, but sometimes the simplest things in life are better. 5. Millennials to Snake People Source: Chrome.google.com many internet users are tired of constantly hearing about millennials. To be done headlines about millennials a little more with millennials to snake people. This Chrome extension will automatically replace any mention of millennials on snake people. Whether you're reading about how millennial workaholics are running away from TV, love Silicon Valley, or probably living with mom and dad (all the recent headlines about this often explored demographic), control is more interesting when it comes to snake people rather than. 6. Netflix Party Source: Netflixparty.com everyone loves watching a movie with a friend or a significant other. But what if your partner or your best friend lives far away? Netflix Party has the answer. This Chrome extension syncs playback and adds group chat to any Netflix movie you want to watch. This means that you and a friend - or a group of friends - can all watch the same movie at the same time. And you can talk about action, too. 7. Panic button Source: Chrome.google.com are you in the habit of downloading a wide range of shame-inducing tabs and then scrambling to hide them when someone enters a room? Then Panic Button is a must-add-on to the List of Chrome Extensions. As its name indicates, Panic Button allows you to hide all tabs by clicking one button. This button keeps your bookmarks in a separate folder. Then, when your significant other, roommate, or boss has left the room, you can press the button again to restore your tabs. 8. PokeGone For Chrome users who are tired of hearing about Pokemon 24/7, PokeGone should top up the list of must-set Chrome extensions. Many people, even those who loved Pokemon as a child, are tired of hearing about Pokemon GO. Thus, the best solution is to install PokeGone. The extension can be soft, aggressive or vindictive about blocking mentions of Pokemon, depending on the setting you choose. This means that you can at least pretend that the world is not obsessed with Pokemon GO. 9. Reaction packages for Facebook Source: Chrome.google.com No matter how you feel about Facebook Reactions, when the social network rolled them out, they're here to stay. So why not make them more interesting with reaction packages for Facebook? This Chrome extension replaces the usual Facebook reaction icons with alternative icons. Designers have presented over 200 different reaction packages for you to choose among. Whether you want to answer your friends' posts with Game of Thrones characters, Donald Trump's expressions or cute illustrations, this extension has something you'll love. 10. Delete all the policies from Facebook Source: Chrome.google.com Maybe your fun idea is a Facebook feed that has cleared off all the political rants so you can enjoy your cat videos in the world. If so, then remove all policies from Facebook is a Chrome extension for you. Turn off the policy on everyone's favorite social network with the click of a button, and know that you can always turn it back on if you want circus again. 11. Tabby Cat Source: Chrome.google.com If you firmly believe that For cat videos and kitten photos, the Tabby Cat will top the list of major Chrome extensions. Tabby Cat generates a new illustrated kitten in each tab. Each cat blinks, sleeps, and even lets pat it. And sometimes, Tabby Cats even bring you goodies. In short, this is the perfect Chrome extension for true cat lovers. 12. Trumpweb source: Chrome.google.com If you're annoyed by what Donald Trump says, as well as how often he appears in the news, Trumpweb may be the best of the many Trump-related Chrome extensions for you. Every time Trump is mentioned, this extension adds an actual quote from Trump between his first and last name. Each quote is what Trump said either during a speech to the media or on Twitter. You won't miss political news as if you've blocked all Trump-related material from the show. But you get to have a little more fun reading the news. It is not surprising that Google, a leading web search engine, has created one of the leading web browsers: Google Chrome.
